The International Commission on Radiological Protection, ICRP, is a non-governmental not-for-profit organization, and is a Registered Charity in the United Kingdom. ICRP consists of Main Commission, Scientific Secretariat, five standing Committees and Task Groups, and has published numerous reports on all aspects of radiation protection, including science, experience and values.

This presentation gives some information on the activities of ICRP, such as:

- Load to making publications
- Activities related to Fukushima
- Nomination for membership in my experience as an Assistant Scientific Secretary from 2012 to 2014.
